Visiting the

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF RAILROAD HISTORY & INNOVATION

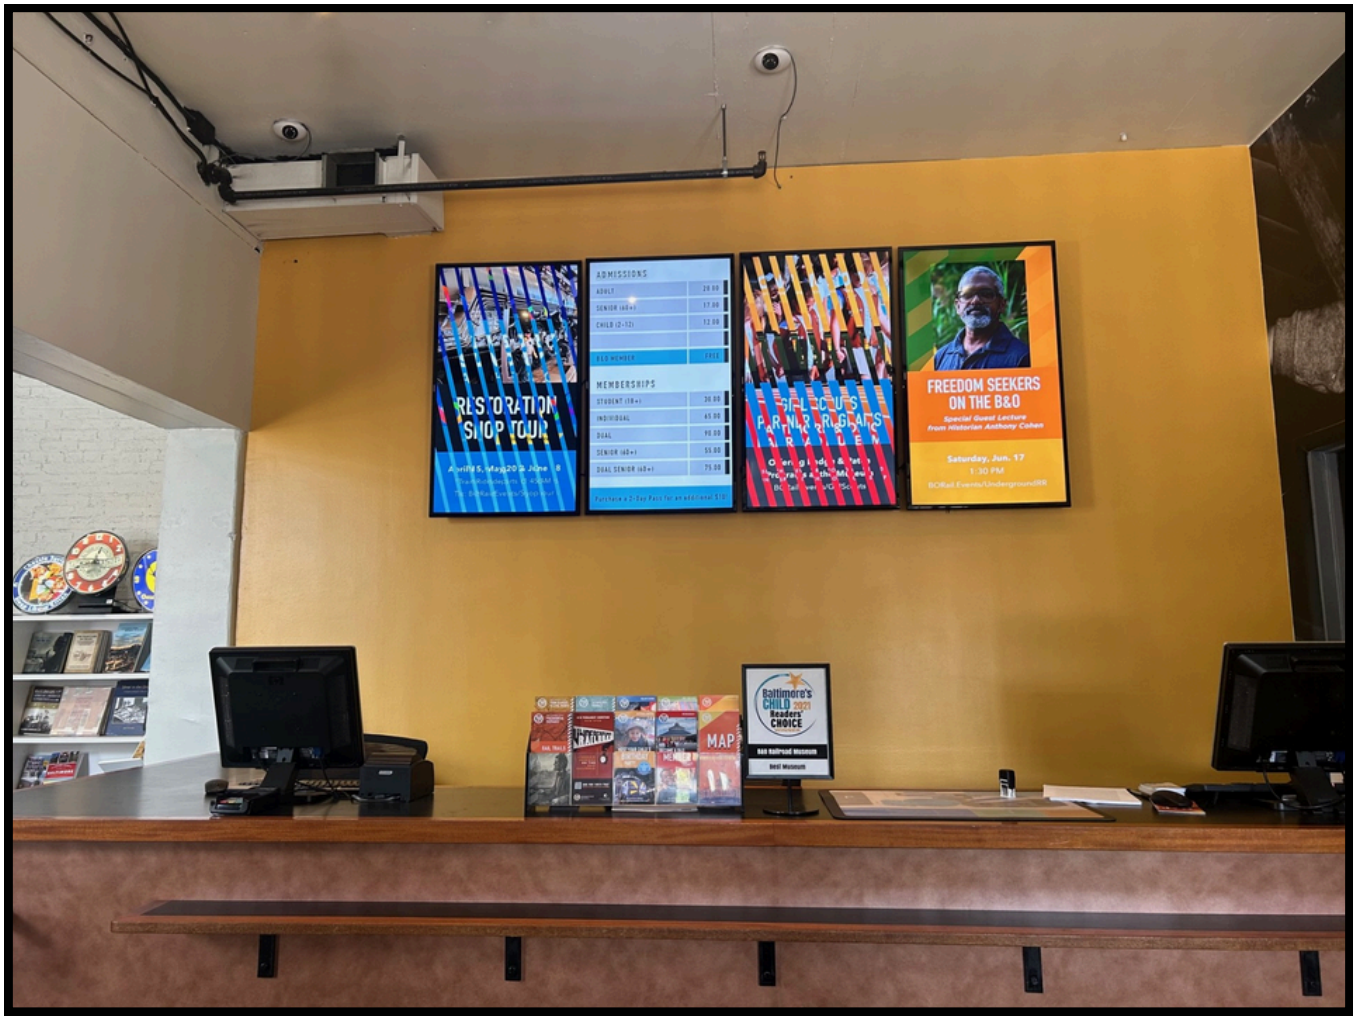

A Social Narrative for Teens & Adults

On your trip to the National Museum of Railroad History & Innovation you will enter through our large gate into the parking lot. There are trains in the parking lot you can look at.

You will walk to our main entrance, there are signs to direct you.

When you enter you will see the admissions desk. A museum staff member will help you purchase tickets to the museum.

Next, you will walk into the Roundhouse. The oldest locomotives in the collection are housed here.

If you have questions please visit the Info Desk! Volunteers here can help with directions or historical information. There are also maps and self guided tours available here.

There are a few locomotives and rail cars you can go inside. These will all have ramps for easy access.

There are other galleries attached to the Roundhouse. One displays various model trains, another is about the Underground Railroad.

In the Backyard there are additional things to see including the North Car Works, a Model Layout, and Platforms 1 and 3. You can go inside all of the railcars on Platforms 1 and 3.

Restrooms are in the Roundhouse and Education Station. If you need a quiet place to relax, you can visit the Bank of America Model Train Gallery near the main entrance.

You can eat lunch or a snack in the Backyard during your visit. You might also be able to take a train ride, you can ask the Admissions Desk if there is a train ride during your visit.

When you are ready to leave the museum you can exit through the same door you entered through.
